REALTORS® to Renovate Home for Veteran

Volunteers, partners to be joined by San Diego Mayor Kevin Faulconer, Councilman Ed Harris for 'Rebuilding Together San Diego' Project

SAN DIEGO (April 25, 2014) --- Volunteers from the Greater San Diego Association of REALTORS® will be working to repair and renovate the Point Loma home of a disabled Coast Guard veteran this Saturday, April 26, for "Rebuilding Together San Diego."

Joining the volunteers to kick off the project at 9 a.m. will be San Diego Mayor Kevin Faulconer and Councilman Ed Harris.

Rebuilding Together San Diego is a nonprofit that provides critical repairs and renovations for low-income homeowners. SDAR sponsors a project annually, and this year its focus is on "Saluting our Veterans with Service." Dozens of volunteers are expected to join SDAR and its partner Considine & Considine CPA. Community sponsors include the SDAR Young Professionals Network and Commercial Real Estate Alliance of San Diego.

The disabled veteran, Mike Beuoy, served six years in the U.S. Coast Guard as an aviation survival technician, performing rescue swimmer and paramedic duties from 1996-2002. Mr.

Beuoy broke his back, and was hospitalized in a spinal cord injury unit. Mr. Beuoy, now 37, gets around fairly well, but stairs are a problem. His 90-year-old home has stairs in front, and Mr. Beuoy must navigate around to the back to enter his residence. Among our tasks, volunteers plan to refinish the deck stairs and create an easier-to-navigate path for Mr. Beuoy to enter and exit his home.
